Course Descriptions

ENG 110: Writing I (MSU) - This intensive writing and reading course builds on students' past writing experiences and requires students to compose personal experience and research-based analytic and argumentative essays. Students will develop critical thinking and reading skills as they read and respond to a variety of texts exploring social, historical, and cultural issues and contexts. Students will develop their critical thinking and writing skills as they compose a series of papers. This course offers the possibility of earning three (3) college credit hours in English Composition through MSU. Students must meet the enrollment criteria established by MSU. One (1) honor point will be earned for successful completion of this class.

ENG 110 cannot be taken concurrently with ENG 200.

ENG 200: Great Books and Instant Classics (MSU) – The works that society calls its “great books” tell us much about how the society views itself. Popular forms of linguistic expression, though sometimes less celebrated, similarly reflect a culture's sense of itself. Examining a range of texts, time-honored and otherwise, from numerous critical perspectives, this course explores how literatures reflect the values of the societies that create and enjoy them. Appropriate for students in all majors.

ENG 200 cannot be taken concurrently with ENG 110.

FIN 150: Personal Finance (MSU) - This course explores practical financial skills necessary for young adults to survive after high school. They will study banking, budgeting, investing, credit card use, insurance, and home and automobile purchases. They will learn job hunting skills by creating resumes and cover letters as well as participating in a mock interview. This course is required for graduation by the State of Missouri as well as the Blue Springs School District. Membership and participation in FBLA, an association for business students, will be encouraged. Twenty percent of the grade is assigned through MSU coursework. Three (3) hours of dual credit available through MSU if college's criteria are met.

HST 121: American History (MSU) - This is a chronological review of American history (Exploration through Reconstruction). All course materials are written using a college-level vocabulary. Students will be expected to read 20-30 pages of material per week. One (1) honor point will be earned for successful completion of this class. The MSU fee is required to earn the dual credit. Students will be billed directly by MSU. Students who withdraw after the first five days will still be billed by MSU and will have to pay some portion of tuition fees to MSU. Students who successfully complete both American History 121 and American History 122 (2 semesters) can fulfill the U.S. History graduation requirements. Students enrolled in American History 121/122 (College Credit) are not eligible to enroll in AP U.S. History for additional high school credit. Three (3) hours of dual credit are also available through MSU if college's criteria are met.

HST 122: American History (MSU) - This is a chronological review of American history (Gilded Age through the 1970s). All course materials are written using a college-level vocabulary. Students will be expected to read 20-30 pages of material per week. One (1) honor point will be earned for successful completion of this class. Three (3) hours of dual credit are available through MSU. Students will be billed directly by MSU. Students who withdraw after the first five days will still be billed by MSU and will have to pay some portion of tuition fees to MSU.
